DEDICATION

[To the success of the Delmarvia Eastern Shore Association's project, we, the class of nineteen hundred and twenty-six, dedicate this issue of The Tatler]

FOREWORD

It affords the Editorial Staff great pleasure to present for the benefit of its readers, the thirteenth edition of THE TATLER. We sincerely trust that in years to come, it may serve as a happy reminder of days spent at Wicomico High School.

We also wish to thank all who have, in any way whatever, contributed to the success of this edition.

FACULTY

Faculty Poem

—o—

When I began to compose this poem,
I had something on which to write,
'Tis true I had no theme or plot,
And no hero or heroine in sight.

But the faculty of Wicomico High
Where for four years we have striven,
Is what this poem is all about,
And to them our thanks are given.

For whatever we do in the coming years,
And what we gain on the road to success,
Over rocks of trouble and hills of despair
We owe to the teachers of W. H. S.

First on our list is Mr. Cordrey,
Our Principal, esteemed by all,
It is he, who has guided us safely,
Through difficulties great and small.

He teaches us Social Civics,
A study not liked by some,
But those who take up politics
May owe it to him for their political run.

Mr. Wheeler, the friend of us all,
Teaches Physics, a study so hard,
He always has charge of attendance slips,
And for late students, is always on guard.

Frenchy little Miss Taylor
Is one of our new teachers this year,
She has wound herself around our hearts,
And we love her, for she is most dear.

We often wonder how in the world
Miss Lankford keeps in her head
The names and whereabouts of the library books,
" 'Tis a broad mind," I've heard it said.

Miss Killiam, one we all love so well,
Teaches Geometry, about things round and square,
She's pleasant always, a jolly good sport,
And always plays the game fair.

Mr. Carroll lives in Chemistry Land,
Where the Juniors hate to travel,
And when he gives one of his "easy" tests,
Their wits they cannot unravel.

There's a memory that will linger
In our hearts for years to come,
Of the pleasant days in Mrs. Pope's room,
Where knowledge in our hearts would drum.

Miss Phillips is one of the Commercial staff,
Shorthand is her chief diversion,
We take words so fast and transpose them
That our minds are in constant confusion.

We imagine we're back in Caesar's day,
When we enter Miss Landon's room,
She teaches Latin in all kinds of ways,
But we find it our greatest doom.

We hope that in the near future,
There will be some handsome man
To capture Miss Powell's true-blue heart,
And I'm sure he will, if he can.

If the ghosts of the grand colonial men
Could revisit us on our earth,
We would find one in Mr. McIntosh,
Who can be stern, yet full of mirth.

Miss Wootton, one of our new teachers
Came to us with her Southern drawl,
She teaches American History,
And has made a friend of us all.

We have another new teacher with us,
And teaching history is her chief delight,
I'm sure you'd never guess her name,
So I'll just tell you. It's Miss Wright.

Miss Gordy is the friend to the "Freshies,"
And surely carries on her own plan,
Of making them "Sophs" the next year,
By placing in their hearts, "I can."

Miss Erwood is one of the Siamese twins,
For without Miss Wootton you seldom find her,
But all the same in her English class,
She can work it so her pupils mind her.

What I could say about Miss Straughn,
Would not be half good enough,
For she surely has lent us a helping hand,
Over discouraging places, deep and rough.

In Mrs. Disharoon's reception hall,
Where English is taught every day,
The "Sophs" are shown all the rules and things,
Which somehow in their minds won't stay.

What could we have done without Miss Dryden?
I hardly dare to say,
For she has given us life's great lessons,
Which we can never repay.

To Miss Parker and Miss Messick
The girls owe their Domestic art,
For such are the things each girl should know,
If she desires the key to a young man's heart.

I'm sure you all know Miss Mildred Morris,
For everyone thinks her a dear,
And when she finishes with the Dramatic Club,
We will all claim kin to Shakespeare.

There is always a promise in room number four,
From Miss Porter, we often hear,
That if we listen to her set of rules,
We'll all be stenographers in two years.

"A man's chief art is the use of the saw,"
And this, Mr. Unger has instilled in our hearts,
For he teaches the boys Manual Training,
Which is one of our School's fine arts.

There is one well loved young lady,
Who teaches English every day;
She comes from the town called Pittsville,
It's Miss Davis, in her Ford Coupe.

Algebra has been studied through and through,
By Miss Ida Morris, and carefully stored
Away in her mind, until I'm sure she could
Teach in some large college from her algebraic hoard.

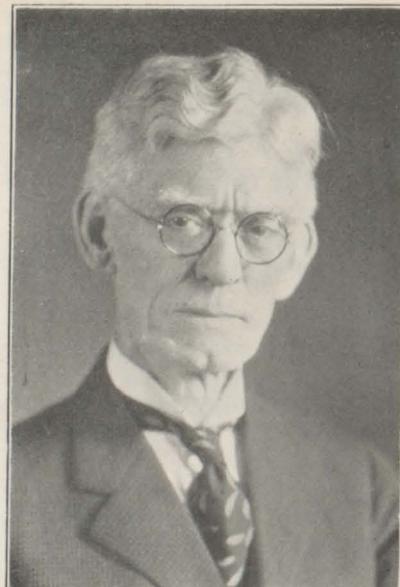

Miss Farlowe teaches the study of Science,
And I'm sure you'll all agree,
We could not have had a better one
If we had searched from sea to sea.

As we leave the portals of Wicomico High,
With hopes of a life of success;
I here once more want to extend our thanks
To the Faculty of W. H. S.

AH! SHOWAIN NEMSHIN, NOSA!

In the glimmer of the firelight
Sat the young men and the old men,
Sat the wise men and the wizards.
In the circle sat an old man,
He with locks as white as snow is
He with memories very ancient.
In the center was a tom-tom,
And upon it was its beater,
Inviting someone to tell a story.

"Onoway! Awake, thou dreamer.
Awake; and tell them, all these people,
Of your ancient memories."

Then uprising from the circle
Came the old man, came the dreamer,
Knelt down, squatted by the tom-tom
And struck the war drum with its beater.
Then the old man, chanting softly,
Sang to them this memoir ancient:

"Far away, away to westward,
Dwell my brothers, long gone from me.
I alone am left behind them.
I alone can tell our story.

It was in the Lodge of Wisdom
That there sat a man of knowledge
Called by us Ko'Ko'Khas, the owl bird,
Called by the paleface, Mr. Cordrey.
And a man of mighty wisdom,
He the friend of man, Mondamin,
He the Jossakeed, Mr. Wheeler.
Under them were many Medas.
Some were as the great war captains;
Others, as the sweetest singers.

Only nine moons of a season
Did the Owl bird hold a council
In that mighty Lodge of Wisdom.

When I went there with my brothers,
All the others called us Faint-heart,
Called us cowards, the Shaugodaya.

And our chieftan for that season
Was Mama, he the jay bird,
Who the paleface knows as Jay Ward.

In the second nine-moon-season
We were as the Loon birds, Wise Fools,
Shur-shuh-gah, the silly Loon birds.
We had a princess, not a chieftan,
Ruling o'er us in that season.
Her we called Laughing Water,
Minne-ha-ha, Mildred Mitchell.
When this season had been finished
We had half our course completed
In the Lodge of Many Medecenes.

In the third nine-moon-season
Nahma, he the king of fishes,
Nahma, who we call the Sturgeon,
Nahma, Wilbur Phillips to the paleface,
Was our sachem, great and mighty.
All the others called us Storm Fools,
Called us Storm Fools, Pau-puk-keewis.

Now the time when we were strongest
Came to us as an arrow
To the heart of a roebuck.
We, the great war eagle, Keneu,
We were Keneu whom none could conquer.
Again Nahma, the painted Sturgeon,
Was our ruler, was our chieftan.
We were as Gheezis, the Sun, is:
So bright we were that none beheld us;
In our deeds so high and lofty
We were as Gheezis, the Sun, is.

Ah Kaween! The time is staid not,
No indeed! It went not slowly,
But as a swiftly flying arrow
When 'tis shot with bows of ashwood.

Then a day, a day of sorrow,
Came and I was as a wretch is:
Never have I seen my comrades;
Never have our paths been crossed."

And the tom-tom, sobbing softly,
Seemed to echo the old man's whisper
As he said in tones of sorrow,

"Ah! showain nemshin, nosa!"
"Ah' pity me, my father!"

GEORGIA EUNICE ADKINS

"Sleepy"

Fruitland, Maryland

"Speech is silver, silence is golden."

To us, Georgia at all times has been a very quiet girl. Always is she ready to participate in all class duties, for she is a staunch member.

She is never seen without her midget friend, Madelyn, and we hope these two good friends will never be separated.

Georgia comes to us from Fruitland, so we know she's all right. Always wearing a bright, cheerful smile and being a good worker, she is a great addition to our class. Here's luck for you.

Favorite Expression—Gee-Whiz!
Known By—Her accompanying pal.
Hobby—Coming to Salisbury.

"More wide than tall but a kindly little body."

Behold! one of the typewriting geniuses of the Commercial Department; for, with Emma, making fifty-five words a minute is just a small matter.

Emma is very fond of playing her ukelele and when you hear her play you think she surely can make one talk. Just listen in on one of her "jazz" quartettes and see if you don't feel like doing the Charleston.

She is a very charming young lady and is a constant companion of Miss Catherine Phillips. It is an every day occurrence to see this pair strolling down town after school.

Emma's ambition is to work as a private secretary for a government official in Washington. May happiness and success crown your days to come, "Babe."

*To the steadfast soon
Come wealth and honor and renown.*

Behold! Here is our quiet friend Allen, who knows no enemies and who is willing to lend a hand to every fellow with whom he is associated.

According to his appearance every young lady expects him to specialize in heart troubles, for Allen intends to follow in the footsteps of his father and become a doctor.

We feel sure that "Doc" will be a success. Anyhow, you have the best wishes of the class for a prosperous future.

*A kindly girl is Kathryn,
A tender-hearted lass,
For even though her wits are sharp
She never cuts a class.*

It is a great pleasure and an honor to be able to introduce to you this eloquent member of the Senior Class. "Ka" has a very bad habit of talking and finds she is seriously handicapped in some of her classes.

Kathryn is one of our greatest rooters in all sports, especially basketball. At every game she cheers her team to victory. And why shouldn't she?

"Ka," you are one of our staunch friends and we wish you happiness in whatever phase of life you attempt.

"Gertie" is one of our most reliable classmates. She's a good pal to everyone and always has a pleasant smile that just won't come off. Gertrude's mind leans toward art, for who could be more efficient in painting than that dark haired friend of hers?

She is the best dancer in our class. Now, don't get bashful, Gertie! She can always be seen with a different partner for every dance.

The Senior Class extends to you all the happiness possible.

Favorite Expression—Oh! Gee.

Hobby—Riding in "his" Ford.

Known By—Her dancing.

"A live wire never gets stepped on."

Irene, a little flapper of the Commercial Department, is surely a live wire. Nothing seems to daunt her lively spirit. If she has any troubles she keeps them to herself.

As a commercial student she is very good and especially so in typing, but it seems that Irene is not interested in entering upon the activities of the commercial world. Instead she is going in training for a nurse. Let us hope that too many of the opposite sex do not fall ill because they have some attraction over at the hospital.

May your success be great and we feel sure that it will be.

*"The world is sweeter for your having

Meet the musical genius of the class. When it comes to playing a piano, "Vig" is right there and she's hard to beat. Just ask her old pal, Dot.

You'll know Virginia by her lively manner and good-natured laugh. She's a riot (the laugh).

Somehow Virginia's mind has suddenly been turned from music to farming. Strange, but little people can be loud and now instead of hearing compositions from Schubert, the great Austrian composer of Vienna, it's sayings from Taylor, the industrious little farmer of Shoemaker Road. That's all now. Best luck to you.

“Alone among ladies is a most dangerous thing.”

It has not seemed the same over at W. H. S. since Harry left school at the end of the first semester and accepted a position with the American Oil Company.

Harry surely did “shine” in book-keeping. Before any of the Commercial students were even thinking about a trial balance, Harry would have his completed, statements and all.

Harry appeared before the public when he took a prominent part as comedian in a play entitled “Jane.” Whether he will become an actor, or a business man is yet to be seen. In either field your future is promising. Luck to you.

Trouble is no object to Iris. No matter where you see her she still retains that cheerful smile and happy air. We all believe that it is sincere, too, but we have not as yet reached the root of this thing, the real cause of Iris' happiness. More than likely that is one of a woman's secrets.

The Study Hall at noon is always graced with Iris' radiant face. She is happy at this time because she is indulging in her hobby.

Perhaps Iris would make a very good dietician. As she likes to eat so well maybe she would enjoy cooking equally as much.

Good luck to you in whatever profession you may choose.

"Reny" surely must believe in the old saying "Smile and the world smiles with you," for at any time you can hear her giggle in most any room.

She is easily teased (ask some of the boys) but she will take a joke any time.

"Reny" is really good in sewing as she is in Shorthand and Typing and we are sure she will make a great success when she enters the business world. Well, here's wishing you good luck in the future.

Virginia is one of our commercial students. To a stranger she appears to be quiet and dignified, but when among those of her class she loses her dignity. She is kind to everyone and is always ready to lend a helping hand to anyone in trouble.

Very often you can hear her telling a group of girls what he said or who she was with last night. Now I will let you in on a secret. Virginia is quite popular with the opposite sex, especially those from Delaware.

We wish her every success in what she may undertake in the future and we feel sure she will come out on top.

"Frank" always does his best by everyone and everything, which may be judged by his taking four years of Latin. That's all right, the pleasure was all yours and you should be proud of your ability.

Franklin is an ardent basketball fan and can often be seen rooting for his Alma Mater.

Have you ever wondered, as have we, why Anna Belle always has the "Shivers?" We can't imagine. Anyhow, there's some one down in Allen that has attracted her attention. That's all right. You don't mind a little teasing, do you? We wish you lots of luck, Anna Belle.

Talk about a willing worker and a "go-getter," Bob is all of that and more. Just like his Dad, as the old folks say.

Now don't think that "Jimmy" is efficient in art alone, for he is a good student. Everyone knows "Jimmy" and likes him. "Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers."

So peaceful is his nature, and so even is his existence, that his quiet presence disturbs no one (?). Byron comes to us from Alabama and his drawl and quiet laugh are known to everyone.

He is famous for his jokes and takes great pleasure in springing a new one, especially in English class. How about it, Bot?

Byron is a wholehearted, conscientious student, endeavoring to accomplish the best in life and to reach the sublime degree of his profession (talking).

Here's luck to you, "Bot."

"Many simple joys bring happiness to me."

Here we have a great leader. She is interested in many outside activities and attending to them all keeps her quite busy.

In the class room she has so much to tell the one next to her that she almost "bursts" sometime trying to restrain herself. Between classes she lets the talk come and you seldom step into a hall that you do not hear Louise's lively chatter.

What she intends to do when she has finished High School is yet to be seen, but we all know that it will be for some worthy cause and that the class of '26 will be proud to claim this member.

We wish you the greatest of success.

Well, friends, we want to introduce to you "Bill," one of our good athletes, which you all know I am sure, by seeing him out on the field practicing.

Bill is a very good student and all the boys try to make him their friend, for lots of reasons.

You can always see "Bill" at noon running down to "our" ball park, yelling "First batter up!" He takes as much interest in athletics as he does in his studies and gets along fine in both. He has not yet decided what he will do when he leaves school, but we feel sure that he will be a great success, either as a baseball player or a doctor, or even a heart specialist.

She lives in the suburbs of Salisbury, and every morning you can see Mae whirling around the corners in her big Hudson on her way to school as though she had driven a car since she was a baby.

You were very good in bookkeeping and we all wish you unlimited success in the business world, if that is what you desire.

"Jeanne" wishes some day to be one of the greatest "Sisters of Mercy." Here's hoping she will succeed in house-keeping or whatever she undertakes.

She is also an expert typist and would some day like to outshine "Tangora" if she should specialize in typewriting. But she hasn't time for such frivolity.

Although history used to be a bug-a-boojum to Dorothy, she has really learned to like it now, and says she enjoys the class immensely. We wonder if it is because Miss Wootton has made the subject interesting or because of the fellows that sit across the aisle from her.

Dorothy has expressed her ambition to become a teacher and expects to attend college in Virginia.

Class Prophecy

—o—

I was sad, so sad and weary,
In fact, in a terrible fix,
For I had to write the prophecy
Of the class of '26.

So one morning in the month of May
I wandered o'er a hill;
Though Nature all around was gay,
My heart was heavy still.

How difficult it was for me
To try to prophesy,
To tell just what the Fates decree,
For I was not a "Malachi."

Soon by chance I spied a mossy nook,
Which seemed to calm and inspire me.
To into the future take one long look,
Then reveal you my prophecy.

For Wilbur Phillips, our class president,
I predicted a brilliant career,
To the Senate he will be sent,
Representing his Maryland dear.

Now Edwin Dawson, our faithful treasurer,
To whom we trusted our gold,
Will be a second "Pierpont Morgan,"
That famous financier of old.

And you remember Charlie Davis,
Especially the themes he wrote,
Well, fortune predicts him to be a journalist,
A clever one and well worth his note.

Kathryn Bennett, whom one could never forget,
(For she was the wit of our History class)
Will be happily married to "Iky," her beau,
Which love, we all hope will last.

Virginia Booth, the senior pianist,
Will be teaching at Peabody,
While Dot and Frances will be in their bliss
When nursing the sick tenderly.

Now Charles Hearne and Mary L. Powell,
Who so desire each other's presence,
Will wed and live o'er in Moscow
And dwell in fulgence.

Wendell Humphreys, comical and slow as he is,
(One would think he had not much pep)

But really you'll be amazed at this—
As a sheriff, he'll win a fine "rep."

For William Powell fate has foretold
A humorous career;
They'll be interlocutors of the minstrels bold,
Attracting people from far and near.

Ethelyn Hopkins will be an artist in Greece,
And there she'll win her fame.
Her skill with the brush will never cease,
Nor the memory of her renowned name.

Jay Ward and Lee Johnson,
Who are never calm nor serene,
Will join with Gertie Benson
In running a booth for ice cream.

On Roy Howie, Dame Fortune seems to smile,
For a prominent judge he will be,
And no wonder, for at every trial
His decision is given wisely.

Maria Parker and Virginia Whayland,
Lena Dashiell and Aline Krause,
Will teach "six-year-olds" the golden rule,
In a four-roomed rural school house.

Now Lydia Jackson and John Marshall, I know,
'Twas love from the very first,
But some dispute will come between—and so—
Oh, well—you know the worst.

Emma Bailey and Naomi Pollitt,
Hilda Nutter and Tull Ryall,
Will type fifty words a minute,
And take shorthand in fine style.

But Mildred Mitchell and Miriam Riley,
Iris Pusey and Mildred Twigg,
Will all join the Ziegfeld Follies
To dance through life without caring a fig.

Now another member of our class,
Branche Phillips is his name,
Will be a fine biologist,
And in the world obtain great fame.

Georgia Adkins and Allan Barnes,
As you will finally see,
With Louise Taylor and Dorothy Vaughn
Will teach Solid Geometry.

I prophesied that Louise Turner would be
Rather a fine musician,
While Byron Shadburn eventually
Will become a geometrician.

Eleanor Hearn, bless her little heart,

She'll go to Paris to study art,
But listen now, prepare for a thrill,
She's to change her name to Mrs. Sawhill.

Now William Waller, with such curly light hair,
And a broad everlasting grin,
With "Fozzer" will still "book" work—and dare—
To attend every small town hanging.

As for Franklin Cooper, the Fates do say
That he'll be a Prof. at Yale College;
While Edwin Powell, a lawyer will be,
Pleading cases with all his law knowledge.

Elizabeth Ellis, so quiet and sedate,
And Helen Davis, her chum,
Will both marry men of about forty-eight,
But will be widows at sixty-one.

Jimmie Disharoon, sheik of the Senior Class,
Will paint artistic and colorful scenes,
He'll sketch and draw so that it'll come to pass
He'll be an artist of no small means.

Roland Dixon and Harry Bowe,
With Floyd Larmore and William Simms,
Will as a committee across the Pacific go,
And advise us to free the Philippines.

Norman Ellis, a scientist will be,
Alton Livingston a critic;
Irvin Waller, a secretary,
And Dot Holliday a heretic.

Madelyn Layfield and her chum, Laura Gordy,
Will probably own a fine style shop;
Then they'll perambulate about the town,
Showing "green folks wot is wot."

Bob Dallas and his friend, Norman Taylor,
Whom one would think were slow;
But reader, would you believe it?
They're going to enter a vaudeville show.

Mae Smith and Irene Carey,
Estelle Steele and Margie Downs
Will each become a secretary
In some of our largest towns.

Iris Humphreys and Annabel Cooper
Will both be always very content,
Living simply with Lela and Elizabeth,
Lives with nothing to repent.

Three of our musical seniors are
Herbert, Paul Hitch and Paul Hearne,
It is quite natural that they should travel afar
And of higher music learn.

What the Fates told me was very true,
About Alonzo Dykes and Avery;
They will soon up-to-date farming do
And their's will be prosperity.

Irene Bostick and Ethel Chatham,
Virginia Catlin and Naomi Garris,
Are soon to take a trip abroad,
To view and explore gay Paris.

Lella White will win notoriety
(She never was very fond of school)
By being a leader of New York society
Instead of teaching the "Golden Rule."

Now Kennon Perrin, oh, you'll be amazed,
For he's to be a Hopkin's surgeon
And he'll leave soon on an Artic trip
To study germs in the Polar region.

For Louise and Iris, I fear the Fates told me
That they would never marry,
But they'll travel over many a sea,
Performing duties of a missionary.

Milton White, last, but not least on the list,
At Hopkins, will study early and late,
To reach his ambition—that of being a druggist,
And have stores in almost every State.

So thus ends the last one on the list,
And to anyone who might not have been mentioned
Let me say that I wish them the greatest success,
To forget them was not my intention.

And now just a word from your prophetess
To the whole of the Senior Class,
If these predictions are a little amiss,
Remember—she did her best at the task.

However, I know that one thought is true,
In life it is always so;
Some will be small, others great things will do
As journeying onward they go.

Together we've had a nice time, haven't we?
I'm sorry its over aren't you?
But, of course, we can't students forever be
For there is big work for us to do.

You know "you can't all be captains, you've got to be crew
There's something for all of you here;
There's big work to do and lesser to do
And the task you must do is the near.

If you can't be a highway, then just be a trail,
If you can't be the sun, be a star;
It isn't by size that you win or you fail,
But be the best of whatever you are!"

We, the Class of 1926, having come to our last hours in our right mind, hereby give and devise all our worldly possessions to the following beneficiaries:

To the Board of Education we bequeath enough money to build a new High School without chicken coops.

To Mr. Cordrey, our worthy principal, we leave a student bright enough to carry on a history recitation.

To Miss Taylor we leave our most sincere wishes for a life of happiness and prosperity.

To Miss Porter we bequeath some hair tonic to restore black hair.

To Miss Phillips we leave a private line to Sharptown with a good looking conductor.

To Miss Powell we bequeath the last year's edition of the True Story Magazine.

To Mr. Carroll we leave a copy of "Laugh and Grow Thin."

To Mrs. Pope we bequeath our knowledge of how to do the latest steps of the Charleston.

To Miss Wootton we leave one well chewed stick of gum.

To Miss Erwood we bequeath the honor of always being near Miss Wootton.

To Mrs. Disharoon we bequeath a White House Cook Book.

To Miss Ida Morris we leave the latest methods of teaching Algebra.

To Mr. Unger we leave the honor of knowing all the Arts of Manual Training.

To Miss Landon we bequeath a pair of low heeled slippers to ease her feet.

To Miss Farlowe we leave a loud needle so that she may be heard.

To Miss Davis we leave an extra tire in case one of hers blows out.

To Miss Straughn we leave an electric curling iron to wave her bobbed hair.

To Mr. Wheeler we leave several altos for next year's Glee Club.

To Miss Lankford we leave several tubes of mending tissue to refix the torn up books.

To Miss Wright we leave a successful career as a ballet dancer.

To the Juniors we leave our cast off dignity.

To the "Sophs" we leave the Mysteries of French and Plane Geometry.

To the "FRESHIES" we bequeath the hard rough road to travel to success.

To those of the Senior Class who did not graduate this year we leave our most heartfelt sympathy.

To the Athletes we leave the honor of winning all next year's games.

To Betty Dallas, Henrietta Hopkins and Hazel Heath we leave mufflers for their tongues, so that the teachers may not be disturbed.

To Lee Hurley we leave an alarm clock so he will be prompt to his classes and not go asleep on the job.

To "Punk" Brewington we leave the privilege of graduating with the Class of '27.

To Miss Mildred Morris we leave a chauffeur to drive her to Washington for the fraternity dances.

To Miss Killiam we leave a bungalow with room for two.

To Miss Gordy we leave a new Ford Coupe for future purposes.

To Miss Messick we leave the hope that she will win a successful merchant as she is so very economical.

To Miss Parker we bequeath a ton and a half of ready made pep.

To Miss Dryden we bequeath the good will of the senior class.

To Mr. McIntosh we leave a new broom to keep the senior rooms clean.

To Walton Parsons we leave a clear road to Delmar.

To Wicomico High School we leave our wonderful reputation.

To Nellie Mae Turner we leave a successful career as a "Charlestoner."

To George Tilghman a certain senior leaves her best wishes that he will graduate in the next class.

To Ruth Messick we leave many happy years to spend with Clyde Serman.

All the rest of our property we leave to the coming classes of Wicomico High School.

In testimony whereof we have hereunto subscribed our name and seal in the year of nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

CLASS OF '26.

"Dick" has played baseball in many of the Eastern Shore Clubs. He now belongs to Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles, and is certainly meeting with lots of success.

Mr. Vivian Smith, '18, received highest academic honors in his class at W. H. S. He graduated at St. John's College at Annapolis, Md., in 1922, and in the fall of the same year he went to Hebron, Md., as principal of the High School. Mr. Smith is now teaching in Easton High School.

Mr. Ralph O. Dulany, '09, attended W. C. I. and finished his course there in 1910. From there he went to Wesleyan University and graduated in '14, from there he taught school for two years and then entered the Army. Today Mr. Dulany is in the canning business. He holds many important positions, being director of the National Canners' Association, vice-president of the Salisbury Rotary Club and director of the Bank of Fruitland.

Mr. Doane Waller, '18, received a commission from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1924 and then entered M. I. T., Boston, Mass. He is studying electrical engineering at this institution and will graduate in the spring of 1927.

Mr. Alfred Truitt, '13, attended Western Maryland College and left in December of '17 to enter Military service. He later returned to college and graduated in 1922. Mr. Truitt was State Adjutant of the American Legion under Col. A. W. W. Woodcock. For several years Mr. Truitt has been associated with the News Publishing Co., and he is now General Manager of this firm.

1926 CLASS SONG

—o—

We have come to the end of our high school days,
In the dear old W. H. S.
No more for the pleasures good and gay,
No more for the well known ways,
Do you think what the end of the high school days
Can mean to the Senior Class?
When the friendships ties are severed today,
And the schoolmates have to part.

But fondly our thoughts will return to the spot
On the wings of memory borne,
As we look back on these good old days,
Spent in these dear old walls.
Dear Alma Mater, we sing thy praise
We will love thee all our days,
And may fortune ever smile on thee
And may men thy name enthrone.

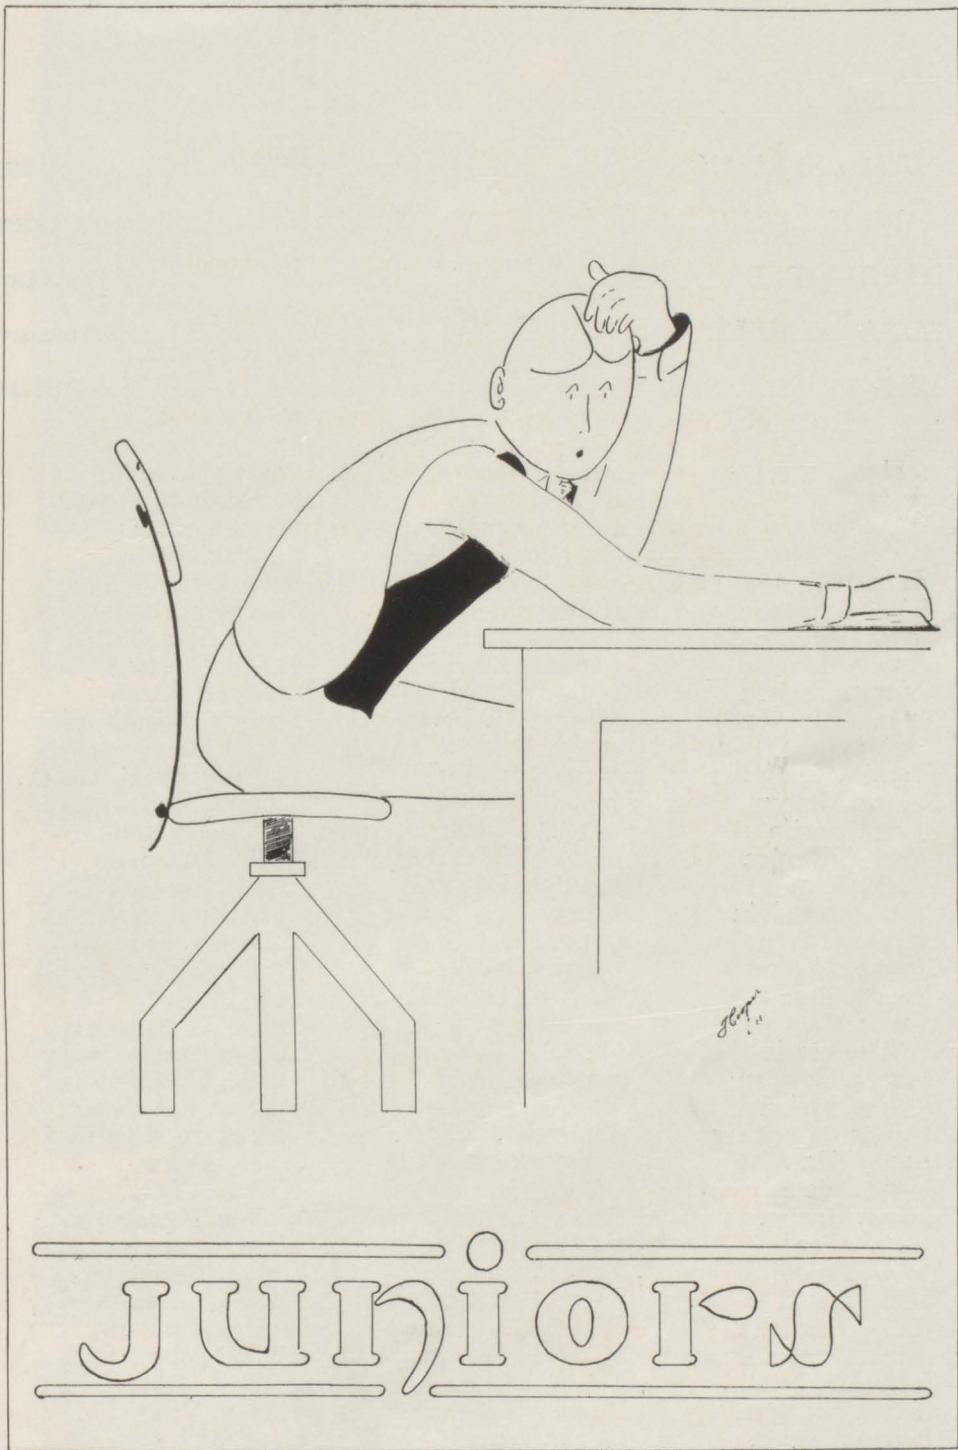

Well, this is the end of our high school days
There's a thrill of sadness too;
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong
With a wish that is kind and true,
For memory has pained this parting day
With colors that never fade,
And we find at the end of our high school days,
That farewell is hard to say.

JUNIOR CLASS

"A History of the Junior Class"

Years go by and only leave us
Memories of the things that pass,
When we're old and quite forgotten,
—Memories of the Junior Class.

Strong gusts of wind and torrents of icy rains were beating against the two small windows of the attic. An elderly lady, her golden hair streaked with gray, was slowly making her way up the steep flight of steps which led to the garret. In her arms she had a large bundle of old newspapers and magazines. These she let fall to the floor with a "bang," and she dropped into a broken rocking chair to rest.

At last, the old lady arose, picked up the bundle of papers, and deposited them on a small stand under the eaves of the attic. She cautiously started to make her descent, when her eye was caught by a bit of lavender silk projecting from under the lid of an old, moldy chest. With eager fingers she threw open the lid, and lo! Before her was the dress which she had made in her Junior Year at High School, and had worn at the Junior-Senior Banquet. Long forgotten memories, associated with high school days, flashed through her mind in rapid succession.

The dress was fondly laid aside, and the lady, now all aglow with delight, began to ransack the chest. At the very bottom a mildewed book came to light. It had upon it these words: "THE TATLER, W. H. S., 1926." She read and remembered. Insensible to the cold and dampness of the room, she turned the yellowed pages of the book as if in a dream. A page which seemed familiar presented itself. It was entitled, "A History of the Junior Class." Was it possible? Was that her class? Yes, she had been a member of it. With eager eyes she read these words:

"We are not yet so grown-up that we have forgotten our timidity when we first reached high school in the fall of 1923. Surely we thought that we would never be able to survive four years of such life. However, in the course of time, we became accustomed to our new teachers and our fellow classmates and we were reluctant to leave them."

"When we returned to school in the fall of 1924, we were delighted that we were no longer 'Freshies.' We now took great pleasure in aiding in the initiation of our 'inferiors,' the new Freshman Class. Our Sophomore year having ended, we were again free to enjoy the glorious summer months, undisturbed.

"Fall came, and we literally fell all over ourselves to get back to school. We were back into the harness, ready to show 'the world and his brother' that young America was "on the job."

"A meeting was held early in the first semester at which the Junior Class was organized. The following officers were elected: Clyde Serman, president; Carroll Long, vice-president; David Fields, secretary-treasurer. Miss Straughn was made class advisor. We wish to extend our thanks to our officers who have proved so capable, and to Miss Straughn who has proved so efficient an advisor.

"At the second Junior Class meeting, green and white were selected for our class colors. A committee of two was appointed to purchase felt for a banner, and several members were chosen to make designs, from which one submitted by Franklin Fields won first place. At this meeting it was decided to make glad the heart of Sam, the janitor, by presenting him with a Christmas basket filled with fruit and vegetables. Sam rewarded us with a broad grin, a flash of white teeth, and profuse thanks.

"The third Junior Class meeting was held early in the spring. In spite of the depleted condition of the treasury, it was decided to hold the Junior-Senior Banquet, and to make a drive for the payment of back dues, which we all thought would be sufficient for financing a railroad project, much less a function of this sort.

"The Junior English classes were organized into clubs, which held their meetings for an hour each Friday. The programs consisted of the study of the lives of great American poets and novelists. Woe to the unlucky one who had not memorized several lines from the author of the previous week!

"Members of the Junior Class furnished the entertainment program at the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association. Each number on the program was well received. The dialogue between Woodfield Tyndall and Madelyn Watson was well worth listening to, and an uproariously funny negro debate was given by five of the boys of the class. Without boasting, we feel that the other classes must have furnished 'some entertainment' if they got ahead of us.

"A prize was offered as an inducement to sell tickets to the very successful school play, "Kathleen." Each member of the home-room which sold the most tickets was to receive a complimentary ticket. Wasn't this an incentive? It was a lucky Salisburian who wasn't pestered almost to death to buy a ticket. The members of Miss Killiam's room were the lucky dogs, for it was they who captured the prize. The Junior Class must certainly be profusely sprinkled with future salesmen and sales-ladies. But it makes us sad to think what a lot of pests will be turned out upon society.

"The Junior Class is not only noted for its salesmen but also for its cooks. A few of the girls have acquired the marvelous accomplishment of boiling water without burning it. But, take notice, it is a very few. However, in sincerity, we are grateful to Miss Parker and Miss Messick for even attempting to tolerate such a lot.

"A history of the Junior Class would not be complete without mentioning our renowned "Struggle with United States History." Surely Columbus would never have had heart to set foot upon ship had he known how much trouble he would cause in later years. But we'll be generous and forgive him. It looked once as though the Civil War might be fought over, for clouds loomed dark on the horizon, when there was such a strong difference of opinion among the members of Miss Wootton's first period, 3B History Class. Things were really getting serious, for it looked very much as if the radicals were ready at any slight pretense, to hang Jennie Carey, Polly White and Alton Livingston as traitors on the first limb that would bear them. Several days afterward, Gladys Van Horn reiterated her oft expressed, strong anti-slavery, and abolitionist sentiment. With most profound wisdom she denounced the Southerners and their "Black Codes," concluding her harangue with the impressive sentence, "And the Ku Klux Klan even killed the negroes dead." The class felt very sorry for the negroes, but the Southerners had already done the dirty work.

"The County-wide Girls' Athletic Meet, which was held at the Armory, was the first event of its kind ever held in Maryland, outside the city of Baltimore. It was a great success and stimulated the athletic spirit among girls all over the county. Wicomico High distinguished itself and Hilda Heath, Gladys Van Horn, Alice Elzey, Dora Taylor, Lorraine Adkins, Hilda Holden, and others won laurels for the Junior Class. Bravo, girls! Both honor and beauty can be attained through following a course of athletics.

"A fire at W. H. S. is such a rarity that the faculty and the whole student body would think somebody was burning a pile of brush if the whole building were blue with smoke. Such was the case, in a modified form, when a part of the school roof was actually ignited. One could scarcely believe that the fire was so near, even when the fire engine made its appearance.

"The behavior of the Junior home-room teachers would have made a fine moving picture.

"Miss Mildred Morris reluctantly stopped her English class a moment to listen to the fire bell. When several minutes later the school fire alarm rang, she looked puzzled, and then presumed that the bell for changing classes must have rung too soon. Investigation showed no classes changing, so she quietly resumed the lesson. Suddenly there was a cry of "Fire! Fire!" but Miss Morris was not to be stopped. Her calmness was contagious and like good soldiers, her class marched onto the campus in regular file. Miss Straughn, like Miss Morris, thought that there had been a mistake in ringing the bell for changing classes, and so she did not dismiss her class until she was convinced that the fire was real. Miss Killiam's motto must be "safety first"—not for herself, but for her pupils' winter coats. Perhaps she realizes that a dollar isn't worth as much as it used to be. At least, she began throwing coats out of the cloakroom window until she was compelled to stop. We extend our thanks to Miss Killiam for her bravery and foresight.

"The climax of the year was the Junior-Senior Banquet, which was held in May. What a nice, informal time we enjoyed! Perhaps the "undecorating" committee enjoyed themselves the next morning. However, it would be sinful to spoil a delightful evening by brooding over such sorrowful tasks. Youth is for happiness, so banish dull care away."

"It has been rumored that the Wicomico River overflowed its banks with the tears of high school pupils on the last day of school. Surely no one could have been so mistaken as to accuse the Juniors of taking part in this demonstration. Though we bade a fond farewell to our teachers and fellow pupils, our joy at the thought of vacation overshadowed all sorrow connected with departure.

"If inclined to shed a tear,
Think you there's another year.
To the Seniors raise your lids,
Next year we'll be Seniors, Kids!"

Memories of long ago! Yes, it seemed ages to the old lady since she had participated with all the other girls and boys in those activities about which she had just read. Then she suddenly remembered that an old schoolmate was coming for supper, one whose maiden name had appeared on the pages of "The Tatler."

That night the two friends sat together on a cushioned davenport in front of a glowing fire. Between them could be seen the open "Tatler." Their dim eyes eagerly scanned the pages, and now and then a laugh rang out as they recalled those scenes of long ago.

—o—

As I'm just a Sophomore I'll forget for a while,
That I'm not a Senior and able to write more.

These little sketches of the members of our class,
May not fit exactly, but please let them pass.

First, President Homer, though small it is true,
In basketball seems to know just what to do.

Now Kathryn Tyndal, the girl so sedate,
Comes from none but our own Maryland State.

Irma Davis and Nancy Covington are Sophomore terrors,
With Dorothy Derby and Ruth Dorman for making grammatical errors.

Dick Johnson, the boy so rare,
To keep with this will dare.

Hazel Heath and Gladys Hearn
For vacation days just yearn.

Hilda Hopkins, who comes from Eden,
If she were an apple, would've been eaten.

Louise Reddish, you remember,
Will be happy from May to September.

Henrietta and Belle, as of yore
Each day leave school at four.

Dean Gunby, the imp, is happy and bright,
And like James Freeny, to us mortals polite.

Margaret Kennerly, with natural wavy hair,
Makes all other girls give up in despair.

Clarke Banks to all of the parties must go,
He is much in demand, as you all surely know.

Catherine Wyatt—our secretary-treasurer—gay,
Tries to make every one happy all day.

Next comes Bessie Bewington, the great athlete,
Who as an English student cannot be beat.

Mary Louise Taylor and Margaret Stewart, now please understand,
There aren't better pupils in the land.

Constance Clark—it is said—is learning to sing
And for this class it will be a good thing.

You may be sure Lloyd Bailey is on hand,
If Ronald Smith is to be in the plan.

Gertrude Riggin, who is generally quiet,
Has shown that at times, she might start a riot.

Now Mary Testa is happy and gay,
As doing her work she wiles time away.

"Jim" Truitt, with girls is considered a bear,
It may be his pink cheeks and his pretty blond hair.

"Ed" Ward, so full of mischief, by heck,
That good nerves are essential, or Teacher's a wreck.

If a prize was offered for going to "Nick's,"
Pearl or Verona would sure do their tricks.

Alice Mellott, a quaint little girl,
Has plenty of knowledge, but nary a curl.

Ernest Clarke is considered to be very bright,
Perhaps it's because he burns midnight light.

Ann Brittingham, Lelia Perdue and Mildred Farlow, for years,
Are always laughing and never in tears.

Now folks like Beatrice Dixon and Nellie Smith you needn't fear,
Of them as quiet students you will often hear.

Irma Malone, Sara Huffington and Minnie Lemon,
Although good students, seem to possess a demon.

Margaret Humphreys and Margaret Oliphant,
Have a desire to ride an elephant.

Mamie Grier as a beauty has been rated,
Well, she surely has us captivated.

Marie, Betty and Walter Holloway, too,
The work of an iron horse can do.

Eva Cooper and Virginia Malone are unselfishly kind,
And with Oscar Coskery have extremely large minds.

Lucy Waller and Lola Young have heaps of pluck
And like Edna Shockley should always be in luck.

Our class would have been in a stew,
If it weren't for things Meredith and Catherine Tilghman knew.

Now Richard Taylor and Graham Prettyman, we find in any nook
That is large enough for Maurice Powell, if he hasn't any book.

Now here is Ann Johnson, with eyes so brown,
Who has never yet been seen in a frown.

Pauline Robertson her knowledge preserves,
To help Thelma Parker just as she deserves.

Now come meet Joe Graham who's always late,
The worthy Vice-President of twenty-eight.

Ruth Owens, whose hair is so light,
Shines just that way in the class—she's bright.

Now Annabel Dick must banish her fears,
For she will graduate in two or three years.

Howard Freeny and James Harris, it is alleged,
Have plenty of knowledge stored in their heads.

Next come Mildred Cantwell and Gertrude Rounds,
Who like all other teasers are easily found.

Betty Wanner, Helen Truitt with Helen Brown,
Are the "Uke" players in their home town.

Leroy Brewington and Wallace Mezick are pleased to learn,
They are playing baseball to suit all concerned.

Dot Fields, Marian Green and Florence Holloway, the blondes of the class,
Are working so hard, we know they will pass.

Doris Cooper, our artistic miss
Believes in the saying "Ignorance is Bliss."

Tom Parker, with his wit, makes the class roar,
Roland Hughes' laugh makes us howl even more.

Emma Adkins and Margie Banks are busy bees,
We are sure that their marks will be better than "C's".

Alverta Livingston is a regular tomboy,
Without her this class would be without joy.

Some say that "Punk" Brewington will hardly notice a "Gal,"
But we hear that there is one whom he calls a real Powell.

Isabel Toulson for months in Florida did sojourn,
She missed her dear teachers, hence her recent return.

Edgar McGrath and "Dutchy" Krause are doing their best,
To be Juniors, is their aim along with the rest.

William Baker and Bill Smith have no trouble or woe,
As over the Hill Top they merrily go.

John Testa and Holland Robertson think they're the whole show,
As into the class room they march to their row,

There are some in this class, who are said to be partial,
But not so with Milford Twilley or Irving Marshall.

Aline Adkins and Margie Arvey we hold in greatest esteem,
For haven't they reached the age of sixteen?

Walter Lowe and Kendall Truitt, so true,
You never can tell what they will do.

Guilette Lewers and Henry Shadburn have a natural bent
Toward studying lessons lest they must repent.

Mildred Matthews, and Grace Timmons, what can I say?
They do their work well day after day.

Augusta Schmidt for fine clothes need not moon,
Has she not Lottie Taylor (Lotta Tailor) in her home room?

From one hundred pupils, you can't select the best,
But Althea Krause and Kathryn Johnson, need not fear the test.

Next comes Della Terry with all her knowledge,
What will we do without her in college?

Boyd, Herbert Blades and William Culver are nice little boys,
Who will soon graduate from baby toys.

Rodney Hawkins, Lawrence Harrington are bookkeeping experts,
But like Hampton Brittingham, their tired brain never hurts.

Sara Holloway, our editor, so tall and neat,
Hopes this article with your approval will meet.

take up further work in the institution. Mr. Jones, a former ex-service man, ex-Secretary of the Salisbury Baseball Club, ex-President of the Wicomico High School Alumni Association and Associate Editor of the Salisbury Advertiser and Wicomico Countian, is still unspoiled and free from the affectation that so often accompanies success.

Mr. Ernest C. Turner, '91, upon graduating from high school, went with the wholesale firm of B. L. Gillis & Son. In 1905, Mr. Turner organized the Turner Bros. Co. He has become a man who is looked up to in his community and has won success and reputation by hard work, square dealing and native ability.

Mr. Hartwell Adkins, '07, is a graduate of Washington and Lee and received his LL. D. degree from George Washington University. Mr. Adkins is now a very prominent lawyer in Washington, D. C.

Dr. George W. Todd, '78, in 1881, was the valedictorian of his class at Western Maryland College. In 1885, he graduated from the Medical School of the University of Maryland, and began the practice of his profession in Salisbury. In 1890, he took a post-graduate course in medicine in New York. Dr. Todd has been one of the most successful physicians of Salisbury. The Peninsula General Hospital, which was the first on the Eastern Shore, and the Pine Bluff Sanatorium were established through his untiring efforts. Dr. Todd is still practicing medicine in Salisbury.

Mr. Hugh L. Dickerson, '11, graduated from Beacom's Business College in 1912. For some time Mr. Dickerson was with the Guggenheim Copper Company of New York, and for three years he traveled for them in South America. He is now in business for himself in Richmond, Va.

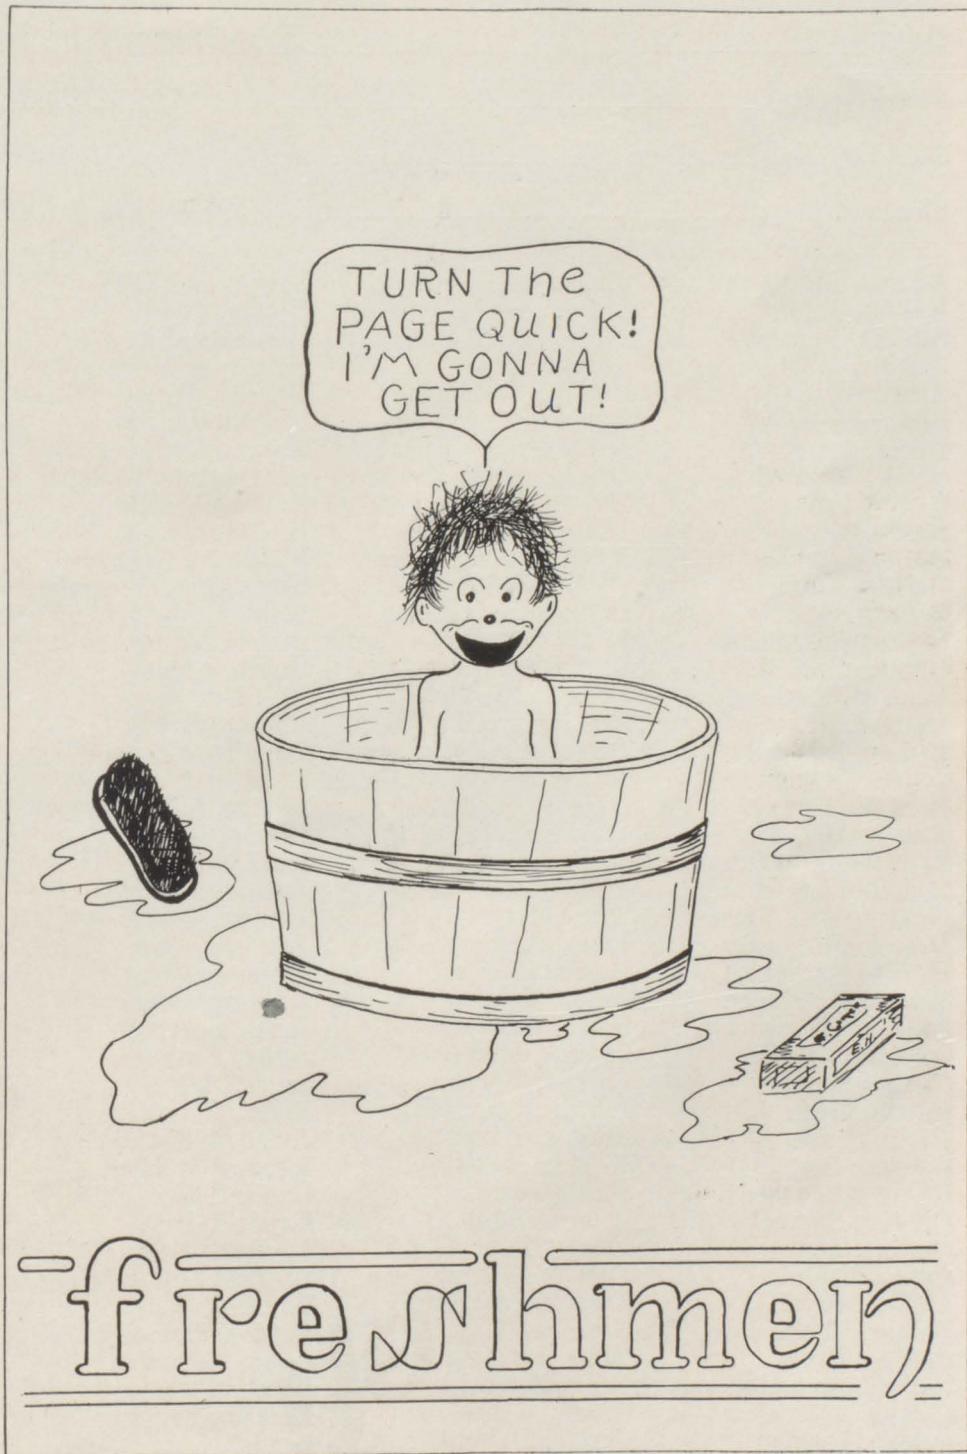

Miss Anne V. Johnson was a commercial student at W. H. S. and graduated in 1917. She was then employed by Brewington Bros. Co. and stayed with the business when it was bought by the News Publishing Co. She was later made treasurer of this company. Miss Johnson now has a very fine position with the Haines Realty Co., of Miami, Florida.

Mr. G. William Phillips, '98, was connected with the Jackson Lumber Company of this city for a number of years. For the past nine years Mr. Phillips has been president of the Salisbury Baking Company.

Messrs. Rex A. and Seth P. Taylor, who graduated from W. H. S. in the class of '15, attended the University of Virginia for two years. At this time their studies were interrupted by a period of military training at Camp Meade. At the close of the World War they entered the Law School of University of Maryland, upon graduation from which they were admitted to the bar. They are now successful lawyers in Salisbury.

Mr. Amos W. W. Woodcock, '99, received his B. A. at St. John's College, in 1903; LL. B. at University of Maryland in 1910, and M. A. at Harvard in 1912. Mr. Woodcock has been practicing law since 1912 and is a member of the firm of Woodcock and Webb. He served as a Colonel in the 115th Infantry A. E. F. during the World War and was cited and promoted "for gallantry in action." Mr. Woodcock is one of the most well known men in his profession.

FRESHMAN CLASS, Group No. II.

Freshman Class History

—o—

September 2nd, 1924, we shall never forget that date. Ever since we were old enough to know what school really was, we looked forward to the day when we would enter a new school and this new school was high school. When we first arrived we were very green and shy because we were in a strange place and among strange faces. Some came from Grammar School, others from East Salisbury, Allen, Quantico and from one-room schools. The first few days were spent in learning the teachers and buildings and also being hazed. The upper classmen made many strict rules by which we were to abide. If any of these were broken, we received a punishment of some kind.

Now that we are acquainted with ourselves and each other, we feel more at home and feel like getting down to work.

We have overcome all the difficulties of Latin, Science, Algebra and Ancient History, and when we look at the Seniors we do not wonder that they are conceited. If we keep at the rate we are now going, we too, shall feel "dignified."

Early in the year we elected as our President, Elizabeth Wright; Vice-President, Margaret Laws; Secretary and Treasurer, Larrie Wimbrow.

With a large Freshman Class, we are looking forward to the day when we shall graduate, a large Senior Class.

The Orchestra

—o—

The Wicomico High School Orchestra lost several good musicians in the graduating class of last year, but it also gained several new ones.

Under the careful tutorage of Professor John Hopkins, the Orchestra has become a perfectly coordinating machine. It has furnished entertainment for many school activities and has made many trips during the year. It has received great commendation and has been everywhere proclaimed the best High School Orchestra on the Eastern Shore, if not in Maryland.

Every Wednesday afternoon harmonious strains of music can be heard issuing from the main study hall where the following can be found, diligently practicing:

VIOLINS:

Franklin Cooper
Roland Griffin
Althea Krause
Clyde Waller
Henrietta Hopkins
Wilson Rayne
Doris Cooper
Frederick Parsons

SAXOPHONES:

Paul Hearn
Paul Hitch
Ethelyn Hopkins
Carroll Long

CORNETS:

Prof. John Hopkins (leader)
Arthur Humes
Lawrence Dodd
Norman Disharoon

PIANO:

Samuel Morris
Frances Wilson

DRUMS:

Joseph Wubbold

WICOMICO HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

THE GLEE CLUB

This year Wicomico High School girls had an inspiration for musical talent and formed a Glee Club.

The Glee Club was started under the sponsorship of Mr. Wheeler and he was so well liked that he has been their leader ever since.

At their weekly meetings the girls practice their old songs and then they attempt new ones. These songs would be hard to master if they did not have such a competent leader.

The Glee Club sings at all High School functions in and out of the school and we hope that they will sing at the commencement exercises.

With our Senior Class we are losing many members of the Glee Club, but we hope that the incoming Freshmen will fill out their ranks and that they will continue to improve as they have this year.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club took its initial plunge into the school life of Wicomico High School, during the last semester of 1926. The members started right by electing a group of competent officers consisting of Roy Howie, president; Maria Thoroughgood, Vice-President; Sarah Graham, Secretary, and Robert Dallas, Treasurer.

The dramatic club functions every Friday and the members are rapidly overcoming the embarrassment of appearing in public, which they so keenly felt at first.

After the disposal of business at these meetings, new plays are introduced by the director for the consideration of the club. Characters are selected by tryouts. Copies of their parts are given to the characters selected, to be learned and practiced. The plays are then presented at the next meeting or in assembly.

The Dramatic Club owes its present success to the efficiency in Dramatics shown by the instructors, Miss Ruth Landon and Miss Mildred Morris.

In the past when plays were to be given by W. H. S. the director always had trouble in selecting students competent to participate. But now the director only has to get the roll of the Dramatic Club and he is sure of finding good material trained in character portrayal.

HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club was introduced into the Wicomico High School during the last term of this year. Mr. Johnson, director of the "Y," was influential in bringing it to its present status.

The officers of the Hi-Y Club are: George Tilghman, President; Clyde Serman, Vice-President; Harlan Messick, Secretary, and Homer White, Treasurer.

The Hi-Y has furnished a program for several school assemblies at the Arcade, in this way they are attempting to bring the students of the school closer together.

The regular meetings on Thursday afternoon are opened with a short prayer, followed by a discussion of the Club's business. The speaker for the afternoon, a prominent man of the town, is then introduced. Good advice, founded on long years of experience, is given for the benefit of the boys and is sincerely appreciated by all of them.

The members of the Hi-Y are supposed to set an example for the rest of the student body, being pledged to take an active part in supporting any movement for the welfare of the school.

The Hi-Y intends to make the school more attractive in appearance and to make the students think more of Christianity than the ordinary school curriculum demands.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Monday, December 28, 1925, marked the sixth annual reunion of the Wicomico High School.

At eight o'clock the members assembled at the Parish House, and the meeting was called to order by the President, E. Sheldon Jones. The Secretary, Mr. Fulton Fields, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were followed by a roll call of the classes from 1876 to 1926. All the classes, with few exceptions, were represented.

The next business taken up was the naming of the new officers. They were: William J. Holloway, '89, President; Mrs. Fred P. Adkins, '94, Vice President; Mrs. Donald Baysinger, '20, Secretary; Miss Ruth Culver, '17, Assistant Secretary; Miss Naomi Dawson, '20, Assistant Secretary, and Mr. Preston W. Burbage, '18, Treasurer.

Executive Committee: Mr. Alfred T. Truitt, '13; Mrs. E. Riall White, '86, and Mr. Graham Gunby, '95.

Member Student Aid Committee: Miss Ruth Powell.

The nominations were accepted and the officers declared elected, after which the new President announced his intention to carry on the work thus far advanced to the extent of his ability.

The business transactions were followed by a very delightful program which included a solo by Miss Ruth Dobson; a very humorous recitation by Mrs. Marshall Mitchell; a musical selection by Miss Jane Truitt at the piano, and Miss Ruth Truitt on the violin; and the singing of old songs by all those present, led by Mr. Herbert Johnson, our popular Secretary of the "Y."

At the close of the program, refreshments were served, and the evening was concluded by an informal dance, the music being furnished by the Laurel orchestra.

Mr. Jay Williams, '76, was a member of the first class that graduated from Wicomico High School. He graduated from St. John's College in 1880. Mr. Williams was admitted to the bar in 1884 and has been practicing law ever since. The law firm which he is in is known as Williams and Williams, Mr. Arthur Everett Williams being the other member of the firm. Mr. Williams has been attorney for many local organizations and firms and has always been interested in community enterprises.

Mr. Franklin Hill, '11, graduated from Beacom's Business College in 1912 and then attended Tome School the following year. In 1914, he was graduated from Eckels College of Sanitary Embalming. He immediately became a junior member of the firm of Hill & Johnson, of which his father was then the senior member. Since that time Mr. Hill has succeeded his father in the business and may be regarded as one of the most prominent and successful business men of this city.

Mr. Fred McBriety, '21, graduated as president of his class. He went to St. John's College in the fall of the same year and was graduated from there in 1925. He at once became connected with the Retail Credit Company, a well known firm of Baltimore. Another graduate of W. H. S. climbing the ladder of success.

Mr. John Edward Adkins, Jr., '21, was Editor-in-Chief of "THE TATTER" of that year and one of the most popular members of his class. Mr. Adkins is a graduate of Beacom's Business College and the University of Maryland Law School. He is now associated with Hamilton and Pen-naman, a prominent law firm of Baltimore.

Bishop James Cannon, '80, is an alumnus of whom W. H. S. should be proud. He has received an A. B. from Randolph-Macon College, an A. M. from Princeton, a B. D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary and D. D. from Randolph-Macon. He entered the ministry in the Virginia Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in 1888 and was ordained Elder in 1892. In 1918, he was ordained Bishop. Dr. Cannon was a member of the commission on the unification of the Northern and Southern branches of the Methodist Church. He has done much work for the Anti-Saloon League. Bishop Cannon is working at the present time, trying to prove to Senate committees at Washington that the Volstead Act should not be altered. He has made several speeches on this subject.

SOCER TEAM

On Friday, of the second week of school, an athletic meeting was held, at which it was decided that soccer practice should start the following week.

We had Mr. Unger, our coach of 1924, with us again this year. He was confronted with the task of moulding a winning team with a lone player left from last year's team.

As there was an abundance of material, shifts were made daily in the weeks of practice that followed. It soon became evident that our coach was gradually putting together a team that, although lacking in experience, would do credit to W. H. S. on any field.

In order to understand the scores of the following games, it must be remembered that a county ruling was put into effect this year, whereby each field goal counted 2 points and each penalty 1 point.

In accordance with our county schedule, we journeyed to Pittsville on Friday, October 2nd, and triumphed over them by the easy victory of 6-0. Dennis led in scoring by rolling the ball through the posts twice in the first half. Waller accounted for the other tally.

Our next fracas was scheduled with Snow Hill, on Wednesday, October 7th. This was a return game left over from last season. Much interest was aroused as to the outcome of this game for the one played with them the previous year had been a tie. We were received with much courtesy by the Snow Hill aggregation and the game proved to be a thriller. In the last few minutes of the first half, our forwards succeeded in breaking through the opposing backfield and Dennis kicked the goal which was destined to win the game. The final score was 2-1; Snow Hill scoring on a penalty in the second half.

The next county game was played with Delmar, our old rival, on Friday, October 9th. This was the first "big" game of the season and despite the drizzle of rain a large proportion of the students attended, in an attempt to carry their team to victory if possible. It was evident from the first that our team was off form as several of the players had been injured in the Snow Hill game. But when the whistle blew at the end of the first half, the score was tied, each team having passed the ball through the sacred grounds of their opponents for one marker. The second half was a struggle between two evenly matched teams, and Delmar emerged victorious, the final score being 6-4. Marshall scored both tallies for Wicomico High.

During the following week, we had the first real practice of the season. Coach Unger cancelled a game with Berlin in order that he might have more time in drilling his charges for the most important battle of the season our second game with Delmar.

We journeyed over to Delmar on Friday, October 16th, determined to bring back the much needed victory. Promptly at 3:30 the referee called the two teams on the field and explained the various rules and penalties. In the first few minutes of play, Delmar gained a lead which proved difficult to overcome. At the end of the first half, the prospects were gloomy for W. H. S. We were determined to score, however, and this we did in the first few minutes of the second half. The game resulted in a tie, 2-2. Fields kicked the goal which saved us from defeat.

The last game of the season was played against Pittsville on Tuesday, October 20th. This proved to be an uninteresting game; Wicomico High winning to the tune of 7-0.

Although this year's team did not have a lengthy schedule, they won the majority of the games, and when you take into consideration the fact that most of the players were inexperienced, I think you will agree with me when I say that they met with fair success.

BASKET BALL TEAM

The Wicomico Indians enjoyed this year the most successful scalping season in many moons. Donning their war paint and plumes early in December, the Warriors set out on the warpath with high hopes, and as the season progressed, the sky became the limit to their expectations.

Mr. H. C. Johnson, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was secured to coach the quint this year, and he filled that capacity with great success, working together with the team in such a manner that was exceedingly gratifying to those having the welfare of the team at heart. Much credit for the team's successful season was due him.

There was another great factor in the team's successful year, a factor which thrilled and gratified them when fortune favored and which kept up their spirits when they were defeated. I am speaking of the support which the team received from the student body. All the basketball enthusiasts were organized into cheering sections and individual and team yells were given. Just before the game, those gathered to see that the necessary number of scalps were taken, would swarm out on the court and perform their famous "snake dance."

After competing with the strongest teams on the Eastern Shore, winning 15 games and dropping but 2 contests, the Wicomico tossers were invited to take part in a tournament to be held at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md. But here dame fortune intervened in the almost consecutive line of victories, and Wicomico High dropped the first contest to Central High, Washington, D. C., by the score of 30-26.

Lee "Reds" Hurley captained the quint throughout the year and he served well as a leader for the team. Not only did he play a stellar game at guard, but he also instilled into the team the vim and pep that is so essential to a winning combination.

Marshall and Parsons alternately filled the other berth at guard during the first part of the season, but both were forced to drop out later because of sickness. White, originally a forward, then filled the berth during the remainder of the season, performing in a creditable manner.

Waller, Tilghman and Fields were the forwards used by Coach Johnson during the season. Much credit is due these lads as a glance at the high scores of almost all the games will affirm.

Brewington held down the center berth throughout the year and played a good brand of basketball on all occasions.

Below is given the scores of the games played this year.

JUNIOR BASKET BALL TEAM

There is another athletic team, representing the school this year, that deserves honorable mention in this book, and that is the Junior Varsity Basketball Quint, alias, the "Papoose" team.

In the last few years, much attention has been given to the coaching of junior teams, for in them are to be found the material for future Varsity quints.

The "Papoose" squad has flashed a well coached team throughout the year and they have succeeded in taking a majority of the games. Certain individuals on this squad have exhibited a good brand of basketball during the entire season and there is a likelihood of their being taken on next year's Varsity squad.

The idea of having a junior team, representing the school, is a very good one, because it gives the younger players of the game a chance to gain the experience necessary to make a well rounded out player.

BASE BALL TEAM

In the first week of April the call was sounded for baseball candidates, and in response some seventy odd boys reported to Gordy Park for a light workout. A few days of practice under the watchful supervision of Prof. Cordrey gave everyone a chance to demonstrate his ability. There were five berths left open by last year's graduates, and the coach's tactics were to organize a strong team composed of players who had never played on the Varsity team. Then he scheduled a practice game to see what each player could really do. This system of coaching had splendid results and the five berths were filled without further worry.

This year the schedule was placed in the hands of the Public Athletic League and therefore our County Schedule has to be played earlier than usual.

On Tuesday, April 6, we played Delmar High at Gordy Park. This game resulted in an easy victory for us, winning to the tune of 17-2. Heavy hitting on our side marked this affair. Ryall, Brewington and Hurley composed our battery.

On Tuesday, April 12, we journeyed to Pittsville and defeated them 10-0. Waller, Parsons and Hurley deserve credit for this shut-out.

Friday, April 16, called us to Delmar for our second encounter with them of the year. They succeeded in giving us quite a scare this time, the score in the 6th inning standing 6-2, in their favor. But when the last ball was caught in the ninth inning, the game was ours by a 7-6 victory.

Thus far the season appears unusually bright for W. H. S. We have a combination of hard hitters and good fielders, which have seldom been found on previous teams. Our pitching staff seems to be our greatest worry, due to the fact that we are forced to use inexperienced pitchers.

There is one more game to be played to decide the supremacy of this side of the county and then a series of games will be played with the winners of the other side of the county to decide who shall be county champions. The winner of the County Championship series will be pitted against the victors of the adjoining counties for the honor of Eastern Shore Champions.

GIRLS' FIELD BALL TEAM

After vacation and the students were down to the steady grind of school life, a notice was sent around to the rooms, trying to locate the girls who had played on the 1925 field ball team. The girls were going to Delmar to have a practice game and were taken from their classes. Some hurried home to get their sport clothing, while others telephoned Dad to see if they could get the cars—with such hustle and bustle the team were on their way to Delmar—as a result the untrained team was defeated by a score of 8-2.

The last game was played November 24, 1925, with Sharptown. Both teams tried to down each other but the Sharptown girls came out of the battle with a score of 9-2.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL TEAM

As soon as the summer fades away and the cold winds blow from the North, the girls begin to practice basket ball, which is the most popular sport for the students of W. H. S.

The girls were very fortunate in having Miss Vivian Farlow, star basket ball player of Western Maryland College, to coach them.

This season there were only two players that had any knowledge of basket ball, therefore much training had to be done.

The girls were handicapped by not having a regular court to practice on.

The first basket ball game was staged at the Parish House December 4, 1925, with Beacom Business College. The W. H. S. girls put up a hard fight but were defeated by a score of 24 to 12.

The next game was played with Laurel, December 11, 1925, but the Laurel team proved to be the strongest.

Several weeks later one team played against the Seaford five. With all the steady training of our girls they could not defeat the strong Seaford players.

VOLLEY BALL TEAM

The most fascinating sport of the spring is volley ball. Each player thoroughly enjoys the game.

The girls can be seen every noon hour and after school playing volley ball on the campus with the sun boiling down on them.

In previous years the volley ball girls have come out on top and this year they are expecting to win the county championship.

Mr. Carroll—Betty, classify the kinds of fruits. (Meaning dehiscent and indehiscent.)

Betty D.—Decent and indecent.

Bessie B.—Miss Wootton, what page did you say?

Miss Wootton—Sixteen in your appendix, Bessie.

Miss Dryden—Mary Louise, please give a reason to that statement that was just made.

Mary Louise—(Just finishing the reason).

Milton W.—That very "Punk" Mary Louise?

Isaac—Rastus, who are you going to vote for this year?

Rastus—Well, Isaac, guess I'll vote for the one who has the best brand.

Miss Wootton—Why was "Fish" one of our greatest statesmen, Harry?

Harry B.—Well, he helped to hold the President together, didn't he?

Mrs. Pope—(reading Macbeth) Whenever I read "When shall we three meet again, "it reminds me of a picture of two donkeys looking over the fence and it is called, "When shall we three meet again?"

Iris H.—Where was the other one?

Mrs. Pope—You happen to be that.

Miss Wootton—Can you answer that question, Hilda?

Hilda N.—I'll try to.

William—(scratching on the desk.)

Miss Wootton—Just a minute, Hilda, William is trying to think.

Madeline—(before school) Laura, I have been to Delmar this morning to get some honey. I went last night, too.

Laura—You had your "Honey" with you last night, though.

John M.—Why is your head so hot?

Edward B.—Brains working.

John M.—More like the saw-dust on fire.

Waste Less Food!

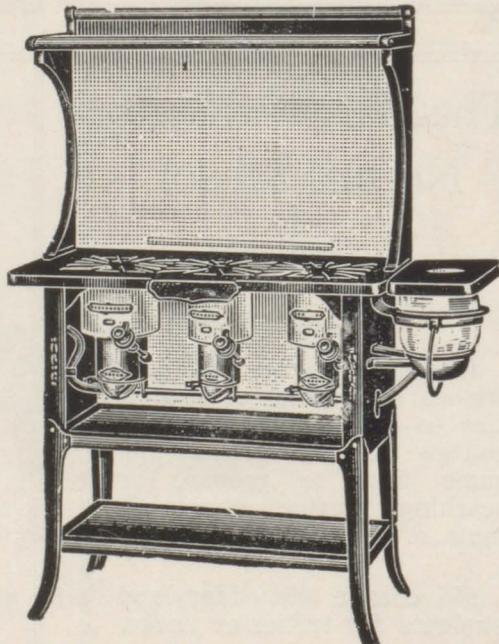

Did you ever consider how much good food you waste every summer, because of the lack of a good Refrigerator? Milk, Eggs, Butter, Meat, Vegetables and Fruit soon lose their savoriness and spoil unless they are kept fresh and cool; and the best and easiest way to keep them cool is in a good Refrigerator, properly constructed.

WE HAVE IT

Keep your kitchen cool, clean and Comfortable

Why should you work in a kitchen that is uncomfortably hot, as soon as the weather begins to warm up every spring? Why carry fuel into your house and then out again, in the form of dusty ashes that spread over everything at the slightest breath of air? How much better it is to cook in cool comfort, in clean, bright kitchen, all the year round!

You can do it easily and economically with a KEROGAS OIL COOK STOVE.

A LESSON TO TEACHERS

Tim came to school very much soiled and with a repulsive odor about him. The teacher wrote a note to Tim's mother asking her to clean him up; then sent Tim home to his mother with the note. Within fifteen minutes Tim was back, still dirty and still smelling strongly. But he gave the teacher a note which read, "Teacher: Tim ain't no rose. Don't smell him. Learn him. Yours, Mrs. O'Brien."

Mr. Wheeler—(explaining to his 4B Physics class how the image appeared to be in the back of a mirror)—The object always appears to be as far in back of the mirror as the object is in front of it.

At this point, Georgia Adkins, who was holding a mirror in her hand, turned it over to see if she could find the image.

Miss Wootton—We will have a test on that one chapter tomorrow.

Kathryn B.—Gosh! that old chapter is hard and long.

William S—(looking at Miss Wootton) Oh, my Lord!

Miss Wootton—(interrupting) Excuse me, but I'm not used to being addressed so.
